PREFACE

Internships are an important part of the undergraduate programme, as they allow students to see how classroom learning is applied in real organisations. The Four-Year Undergraduate Programme (FYUGP), introduced in line with the National Education Policy 2020, gives special importance to experiential learning, skill development and employability. This report has been prepared as part of the internship requirement of Magadh University and the Higher Education guidelines applicable in Bihar.

The report describes the internship undertaken in Legal & Corporate Compliance at RKNEXORA PRIVATE LIMITED, the plan followed, the work carried out, and the learning gained. Every company, startup and small business in India has to follow many laws - company law, tax law, labour law and contract law - and has to keep its records and filings up to date. Trained people who understand these rules and can draft documents carefully are needed in every organisation. This internship offered a first-hand introduction to that field.

The report has been arranged in the order suggested by the University, beginning with the cover page and acknowledgement and ending with the conclusion and attendance sheet. It is hoped that the report gives a clear and honest account of the internship experience. All sample documents in this report were prepared for learning with dummy data and are not legal advice.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report documents the internship completed in Legal & Corporate Compliance at RKNEXORA PRIVATE LIMITED (RK NEXORA - 'Campus to Career'). The programme required a minimum of 120 hours, completed over about four to five weeks (28 working days) with daily sessions of four to five hours, and was supported by an attendance log, supervisor guidance and review.

Background. Law sets the rules within which a business must work, and compliance means following those rules on time and keeping proof of having done so. A company must be incorporated properly, file returns with the Registrar of Companies, keep statutory registers, pay taxes such as GST, follow labour laws, sign clear contracts and protect itself with written policies. Legal and corporate compliance is the discipline that plans, tracks and documents these duties so that an organisation avoids penalties, disputes and loss of trust. For a student from any discipline, the internship shows how reading, drafting, accuracy and deadlines work in a real compliance setting.

Objectives. The internship aimed to (i) build a structured understanding of legal and corporate compliance, (ii) learn the basics of the Companies Act, ROC filings and statutory registers, (iii) learn contract drafting and legal notice drafting, (iv) understand labour law and GST compliance basics, (v) learn legal research, policy documentation and compliance calendars, and (vi) develop communication, documentation and professional discipline.

Work carried out. The student first studied the basics of the Companies Act, then worked through ROC filings and forms, contract drafting, labour law basics, GST compliance, legal research methods, statutory registers, policy documentation, the compliance calendar and legal notice drafting. Each topic had a concept session followed by a hands-on task using sample forms, drafts and dummy company data. The later part of the programme was devoted to a case study, a mock practical exercise, supervisor review and preparation of this report.

Project. The work was tied together in a project titled Corporate Compliance & Documentation Project, in which a compliance calendar was prepared and sample contracts and notices were drafted under company and labour law basics.

Method. A blended method was followed - learn, practise, document and review - supported by a daily attendance log with day-wise remarks and regular feedback from the supervisor.

Learning gained. The student gained a clear understanding of how company, tax and labour laws apply to a business, practical familiarity with ROC forms, statutory registers, contract clauses, GST invoices and compliance calendars, a basic method for legal research, and improved drafting, attention to detail and professional discipline.

Key observations. Compliance depends on knowing the due dates and recording them; clear drafting prevents disputes; laws change, so every point must be checked against the latest official source; and client information must always be kept confidential.

Conclusion. The internship met its objectives and contributed to the student's academic understanding, employability and confidence. The report follows the University's suggestive format: cover page, acknowledgement, certificate, contents, preface, executive summary, about the agency, plan and execution, learning outcome, conclusion and attendance sheet.

Learning is organised into three phases: Orientation (Days 1-2), Learning and Practice (Days 3-22, ten sub-topics of two days each: one concept day and one hands-on day) and Project and Review (Days 23-28), followed by a concluding review.

PLAN AND EXECUTION

1. Objectives

The internship was planned around the following objectives, each linked to a part of the programme:

1. Understand Legal & Corporate Compliance - meaning, importance, sources of law and key terms (Week 1).
2. Learn company law basics - Companies Act, types of companies, incorporation, directors, ROC filings and forms (Week 1).
3. Learn contract drafting, labour law and GST basics - essential clauses, wages and employee rights, registration, invoices and returns (Week 2).
4. Learn legal research, statutory registers and policy documentation - statutes, case law, registers of members, directors and charges, and company policies (Week 3).
5. Learn compliance tracking and legal notice drafting - compliance calendar, due dates, reminders, and structure of notices (Week 4).
6. Develop professional discipline - confidentiality, accuracy, formal writing, documentation and report writing (throughout).

2. Methodology

The programme followed a blended method made up of four connected steps, repeated for each topic:

Learn. Each topic began with a concept session in which the supervisor explained the purpose of the function, its main documents and how it connects with other compliance work. Notes were prepared in the student's own words.

Practise. The concepts were then applied in guided hands-on tasks - filling sample ROC form details, drafting simple agreements and notices, preparing GST invoice samples, practising legal research on sample questions, preparing statutory register formats, drafting a sample policy and building a compliance calendar in MS Excel. Only sample or dummy data were used, so that no real client or company information was handled.

Document. Every day's work was recorded in the internship attendance log with a short remark, and processes were written up as documentation so that the work could be reviewed.

Review. The supervisor reviewed the work, pointed out errors and suggested improvements. Review days, a case study and a mock practical exercise helped to consolidate the learning.

3. Understanding Legal & Corporate Compliance - Concepts Studied

3.1 What is legal and corporate compliance. Law is the set of rules made by the State; compliance is the act of following those rules. Corporate compliance means that a company follows the laws and regulations that apply to it, and also its own policies. Legal work usually involves advising, drafting and dealing with disputes, while compliance work involves tracking duties, making filings on time and keeping records. Good compliance avoids penalties, protects directors and builds the trust of customers, investors and employees.

3.2 Sources of law and the legal system. Law in India comes from the Constitution, statutes (Acts of Parliament and State Legislatures), rules, regulations and notifications made under those Acts, court judgments (case law) and custom. The court system includes the Supreme Court, High Courts (for Bihar, the Patna High Court) and subordinate courts, along with tribunals such as the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) and consumer commissions. Regulators include the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) and Registrar of Companies (ROC), the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI), the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), the GST authorities and the labour departments. The criminal law was recently re-codified as the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita and Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023, which came into effect on 1 July 2024.

3.3 Companies Act, 2013 - types of business entities. The main forms are:

Type	Members	Directors	Key feature
Private Limited Company	Minimum 2 (maximum 200)	Minimum 2	Shares cannot be offered to the public; limited liability
Public Limited Company	Minimum 7	Minimum 3	Can invite the public to subscribe to shares; more compliance
One Person Company (OPC)	1	Minimum 1	Single owner with a nominee; limited liability
Section 8 Company	As per its form	As per its form	Charitable objects; profits are not distributed as dividend
Limited Liability Partnership (LLP)	Minimum 2 partners	Not applicable	Governed by the LLP Act, 2008; limited liability with partnership flexibility

3.4 Incorporation, directors and meetings. A company is formed by applying on the MCA portal, mainly through the integrated SPICe+ form, with a Digital Signature Certificate (DSC), a Director Identification Number (DIN), the Memorandum of Association (MoA) stating its objects and the Articles of Association (AoA) stating its internal rules. On approval the ROC issues a Certificate of Incorporation with a Corporate Identification Number (CIN); PAN and TAN are also allotted. Directors manage the company and owe it duties of good faith, due care and avoiding conflict of interest. The Board meets at regular intervals (at least four meetings a year with a limited gap between two meetings) and members meet at the Annual General Meeting (AGM). Decisions are passed as ordinary or special resolutions and recorded in minutes, which follow the Secretarial Standards issued by the Institute of Company Secretaries of India (ICSI).

3.5 ROC filings and forms. The Registrar of Companies keeps the public record of every company. Annual filings commonly include the financial statements (Form AOC-4) and the annual return (Form MGT-7 or MGT-7A), along with auditor-related and director-related filings. Event-based filings are needed when something changes, for example a change of directors, registered office or share capital, or when a charge is created. As a general rule, the AGM is to be held within six months of the end of the financial year, and the financial statements and annual return are filed within 30 and 60 days of the AGM respectively. Late filing attracts additional fees per day of delay. Form names, fees and due dates are updated by MCA from time to time and must always be verified on the MCA portal.

3.6 Statutory registers and records. A company must maintain registers at its registered office and keep them updated: the register of members (Section 88), register of directors and key managerial personnel (Section 170), register of charges (Section 85) and register of contracts or arrangements in which directors are interested (Section 189), along with minutes books. Accurate registers prove who owns the company, who runs it and what it has pledged, and members and authorities may have a right to inspect them.

3.7 Contract drafting. A contract is an agreement enforceable by law. Under the Indian Contract Act, 1872, a valid contract needs an offer and acceptance, lawful consideration and object, free consent, competent parties and the intention to create legal relations, and it must not be expressly declared void. A simple agreement usually contains: title, date and place, parties, recitals (background), definitions, scope of work or sale, consideration or payment terms, term and renewal, confidentiality, intellectual property, indemnity, termination, force majeure, dispute resolution (negotiation, arbitration under the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996, or courts), governing law and jurisdiction, notices, and signatures with witnesses. Stamp duty is payable as per the law of the State, and electronic signatures are recognised under the Information Technology Act, 2000. Good drafting uses plain, precise words, defined terms, consistent names and no ambiguity.

3.8 Labour law basics. India has consolidated 29 central labour laws into four Labour Codes, which were brought into force on 21 November 2025:

Labour Code	Main subjects covered
Code on Wages, 2019	Minimum wages, timely payment of wages, bonus and equal remuneration
Industrial Relations Code, 2020	Trade unions, standing orders, fixed-term employment, layoff and retrenchment, dispute resolution
Code on Social Security, 2020	Provident fund, ESI, gratuity, maternity benefit and social security for gig and platform workers
Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020	Workplace safety and health, working hours, contract labour, health check-ups

Employee rights under this framework include a written appointment letter, timely payment of wages, overtime at higher pay, a safe workplace and social security cover. The Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013 (POSH) requires an Internal Committee in workplaces with ten or more employees. Central and State rules under the Codes are still being finalised and updated, so the current position must be verified before applying any rule.

3.9 GST compliance overview. Goods and Services Tax (GST) is an indirect tax on the supply of goods and services, charged as CGST and SGST on supplies within a State and as IGST on inter-State supplies. Registration is required when aggregate turnover crosses the prescribed limit (generally Rs. 40 lakh for goods and Rs. 20 lakh for services, with lower limits in some States, and registration is compulsory in certain cases regardless of turnover). Since 22 September 2025 most supplies fall under the 5% and 18% rates, with 40% on certain luxury and sin goods and nil rate for some items. A tax invoice must show the supplier's name and GSTIN, invoice number and date, description with HSN or SAC code, value, rate and amount of tax, and place of supply. Regular taxpayers file GSTR-1 (details of outward supplies, generally by the 11th of the next month) and GSTR-3B (summary return and payment, generally by the 20th), and an annual return. Input Tax Credit (ITC) allows a registered person to reduce tax payable by the GST paid on business purchases. Rates, limits and due dates can change or be extended by notification and must be checked on the GST portal.

3.10 Legal research methods. Legal research means finding the correct and current law on a question. The usual steps are: identify the issue, find the relevant statute (Bare Act) and read the sections and definitions, check rules and notifications and any amendments, find leading judgments, note the citation and verify the source. Reliable sources include India Code (the official database of Central and State Acts), the Gazette of India, Supreme Court and High Court websites and recognised law reports. A case is read by noting its facts, the issue, the arguments, the reasoning (ratio decidendi) and the decision. A case title is cited as Party A v. Party B with the year, report and page. Secondary sources such as blogs are used only as a starting point and are never relied on without checking the original law.

3.11 Policy documentation. Policies state how an organisation will act, for example a code of conduct, HR and leave policy, POSH policy, data privacy policy, anti-bribery policy and whistle-blower (vigil mechanism) policy. A good policy has a purpose, scope, definitions, policy statement, responsibilities, procedure, exceptions, and review date. Document control records the version number, date, author, approver and change log so that everyone uses the latest approved version. The life cycle is: draft, review, approval by management or Board, communication and training, monitoring and periodic review.

3.12 Compliance calendar. A compliance calendar lists every recurring duty with its law, form, frequency, due date, person responsible, status and reminder date. Typical monthly items include GST returns, TDS deposit (generally by the 7th of the next month) and PF and ESI contributions (generally by the 15th); quarterly items include advance tax instalments and TDS returns; annual items include the AGM, ROC filings and annual returns. Good practice is to set reminders well before the due date, assign a maker and a checker, mark status as Pending, In progress or Done, and store proof of filing.

3.13 Legal notice drafting. A legal notice is a formal written communication that informs a person about a claim or breach and asks for a remedy within a stated time. Common kinds are a demand notice for unpaid dues, a notice for breach of contract, a termination notice, a notice under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 for a dishonoured cheque (to be sent within 30 days of getting the bank's information, with 15 days for the drawer to pay), and a reply notice. A notice normally contains the sender and receiver details, date and mode of delivery, subject, facts in order, the legal basis, the demand, the time allowed, the consequence of non-compliance and a reservation of rights. The language is formal, factual and firm, without abuse. Notices on behalf of a client are normally signed by an advocate.

3.14 Ethics and professional conduct. Compliance and legal work depend on trust. Key duties are confidentiality of client and company information, honesty and accuracy, avoiding conflict of interest, respecting the limits of one's role (only enrolled advocates can practise law in courts, and an intern does not give legal advice) and protecting personal data in line with the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 and its Rules.

3.15 Key performance indicators (KPIs). Compliance teams track simple measures:

Indicator	Meaning / Formula	Why it matters
On-time Filing Rate	(Filings made on time / Total filings due) x 100	Shows how reliable compliance is
Late Fees Paid	Total additional fees and penalties paid	Shows the cost of missed deadlines
Open Actions	Number of compliance tasks pending	Shows workload and risk
Contract Turnaround Time	Days from request to final signed draft	Shows efficiency of drafting and review
Policy Review Rate	(Policies reviewed on schedule / Total policies) x 100	Shows whether documents are kept up to date

3.16 Limitations and care needed. Laws, forms, rates and due dates change often, and the same rule can differ from State to State. Every point learned must be checked against the latest official source, and sample documents are for learning only. Weak records, missed deadlines and unclear drafting can lead to penalties and disputes.

4. Week-wise Plan and Execution

Week	Days	Activities
Week 1	Days 1-6	Orientation and foundations: company induction, introduction to legal and corporate compliance, Companies Act basics, and ROC filings and forms.
Week 2	Days 7-12	Contracts, labour and tax: contract drafting, labour law basics and GST compliance overview, each with a concept session and a hands-on task.
Week 3	Days 13-18	Research and records: legal research methods, statutory registers and policy documentation.

companies, incorporation, directors and key provisions. The week ended with a study of ROC annual filings, common e-forms and due dates.

Week 2: In the second week the study moved to contract drafting - essential clauses, parties and terms - followed by labour law basics, including wages, working conditions and employee rights, and a GST compliance overview covering registration, returns, invoicing rules and the compliance calendar.

Week 3: The third week focused on legal research using statutes, case law and legal databases; on statutory registers of members, directors and charges and how they are maintained; and on policy documentation, including drafting, review and version control.

Week 4: In the fourth week the student studied the compliance calendar, including due dates, tracking and reminders, and legal notice drafting, including facts, demand and reply. A case study exercise and a mock practical exercise were completed in this week.

Week 5: The last week was devoted to project closure: supervisor review and feedback, drafting of the internship report, preparation of a presentation and final review before submission.

6.5 Policy Documentation and Compliance Calendar

Concept: Company policies, drafting, review and version control; compliance due dates, tracking filings and reminders.

Practice carried out: Drafting a sample code of conduct policy with a version table; building a compliance calendar in MS Excel with due dates, owner and status columns.

6.6 Legal Notice Drafting

Concept: Structure of legal notices - facts, demand and reply - with formal tone and time limits.

Practice carried out: Drafting a sample demand notice and a sample reply notice on dummy facts, reviewed by the supervisor.

7. Key Laws and Authorities - Introductory Awareness

Law / Rule	Relevance to compliance work
Companies Act, 2013 and Rules	Incorporation, directors, meetings, registers and ROC filings
Limited Liability Partnership Act, 2008	Formation and compliance of LLPs
Indian Contract Act, 1872	Validity and performance of contracts
Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996	Resolving disputes outside court

POSH Act, 2013	Prevention of sexual harassment at the workplace
CGST Act and IGST Act, 2017	GST registration, invoices, returns and credit
Consumer Protection Act, 2019	Rights of consumers and remedies

Good compliance practice. Know the applicable law, keep a calendar, assign clear responsibility, file early rather than on the last day, keep proof of every filing, review policies at least once a year and take professional advice where needed.

Ethics in drafting and research. Use the latest official text, quote sources accurately, never copy a draft without understanding it, and keep client matters confidential.

8. Process Flows Studied

Process mapping was used to understand how compliance work moves from one step to the next and who is responsible at each step.

Process	Steps
Company Incorporation	Name check > DSC and DIN > Draft MoA and AoA > File SPICe+ > ROC approval > Certificate of Incorporation > PAN and TAN
Annual ROC Compliance	Board meeting > Financial statements approved > AGM > File AOC-4 > File MGT-7 > Update registers
Contract Cycle	Requirement > Draft > Internal review > Negotiation > Final draft > Stamping and signing > Storage and follow-up
Monthly GST Cycle	Collect invoices > Reconcile purchases and ITC > File GSTR-1 > File GSTR-3B and pay tax > Record proof
Legal Research	Identify issue > Find statute > Check rules and amendments > Find cases > Verify source > Write note with citations
Policy Life Cycle	Need identified > Draft > Review > Approval > Communication and training > Monitoring > Annual review
Legal Notice	Collect facts and documents > Draft notice > Supervisor review > Send by registered post / email > Track reply > Next step

9. Worked Examples with Sample (Dummy) Data

Example A: Sample service agreement structure. The following extract shows how clauses were drafted for a dummy agreement between Alpha Services Pvt. Ltd. and Beta Traders. The parties and figures are fictitious.

Clause	Purpose	Sample drafting point

Confidentiality	Protect business information	Each party keeps the other's information secret during and after the term
Termination	Allow a fair exit	Either party may end the agreement with 30 days' written notice
Dispute resolution	Avoid long court cases	Discussion first, then arbitration; courts of a named place have jurisdiction

Example B: Sample compliance calendar (dummy company, financial year April to March). Due dates are illustrative and were checked against the official portals only for practice; they must be verified before use.

Compliance	Law / Authority	Frequency	Generally due
GSTR-1	GST	Monthly	11th of next month

11. Case Study Exercise: Missed Annual Filings in a Small Private Company

A case study exercise was completed on a typical compliance failure. The company and figures are illustrative and not taken from any real organisation.

Part	Details
Background	A small private limited company had two directors who were busy with business. Nobody was made responsible for compliance, and dates were remembered only informally.
Problem observed	The AGM was delayed, and the financial statements and annual return were filed months late. GST returns were also filed late in some months. The company paid additional fees and late fees, and a notice was received from the authorities.
Analysis	There was no compliance calendar, no owner for each task, no reminders and no review by the Board. Documents were not ready, so filing was repeatedly postponed. Under the Companies Act, continued failure to file financial statements or annual returns can bring serious consequences, including disqualification of directors for continuous default.
Recommendations	(1) Prepare a compliance calendar with owners and reminders at least 15 days before each due date. (2) Appoint a responsible person and a reviewer. (3) Keep a checklist of documents for each filing. (4) Place compliance status on every Board meeting agenda. (5) Take help of a Company Secretary or a professional where needed. (6) File early rather than on the last day.
Expected result	Fewer late fees, no surprise notices, and better protection for directors and the company.
Lesson learned	Compliance is a routine of dates, owners and proof; a simple calendar prevents most penalties.

12. Mock Practical Exercise: Compliance Set-up for a New Private Company

In the mock practical exercise the student handled the compliance and documentation side of a new sample (dummy) private company from incorporation onward, using the formats and sheets practised earlier.

Step	Task	Document prepared / checked	Area
1	Incorporation papers	Checklist of MoA, AoA, DIN, DSC, SPICe+ details and Certificate of Incorporation	Company law
2	First Board meeting	Notice, agenda and draft minutes (including first auditor appointment)	Company law
3	Statutory registers	Register of members, directors and charges set up	Records
4	Client agreement	Sample service agreement drafted and reviewed for gaps	Contracts
5	Employee documents	Appointment letter checklist and HR / POSH policy outline	Labour law
6	GST set-up	GST registration documents list and sample tax invoice	GST
7	Compliance calendar	Calendar of ROC, GST, TDS and labour dues with owners	Tracking
8	Notice handling	Sample reply to a vendor's demand notice	Notices

The exercise showed that compliance work is a chain: an incomplete incorporation record, a missing register or an unrecorded due date can cause problems in every later step.

SPICe+ form details verified	Governing law and jurisdiction stated
Certificate of Incorporation, PAN, TAN received	Stamp duty and signatures with witnesses checked

Annual Compliance Checklist	Legal Notice Checklist
Board meetings held and minutes signed	Facts and dates verified from documents
Financial statements prepared and approved	Sender and receiver details correct
AGM notice and AGM held on time	Legal basis and clause or section stated
AOC-4 and MGT-7 prepared and filed	Clear demand with time limit
GST returns and annual return filed	Formal and firm language, no abuse
Statutory registers updated	Mode of delivery and proof kept
Proof of every filing saved	Reviewed and signed by the authorised person

14. Tools and Resources

Learning materials, Bare Acts and the India Code website, MCA and GST portals for reference (public information only), sample forms, agreement and notice formats, MS Excel for the compliance calendar, MS Word for drafting, reference notes of the ICSI Secretarial Standards, assignments and mentor feedback were used during the internship.

These skills were developed through repeated practice and daily documentation. Drafting exercises improved precision, the compliance calendar improved planning and deadline control, and writing remarks and reports improved communication.

c. Observed Attitude and Gained Values

1. Integrity and confidentiality: legal and company information must be protected and records kept honestly.
2. Accuracy and responsibility: a wrong date, name or clause can cause penalties or disputes.
3. Discipline and punctuality: compliance is built on meeting dates and regular reporting.
4. Respect for law: rules are followed in spirit as well as in letter.
5. Continuous learning: laws change, so facts must be checked against the latest official source.

d. Challenges Faced

Challenges Faced	How They Were Handled
Understanding legal language and section numbers.	Used a glossary, read Bare Acts slowly and discussed doubts with the mentor.
Knowing which due date or form is current, as rules change.	Verified on official portals and noted the date of checking in the calendar.
Drafting clauses that are clear and complete.	Used checklists, model formats and supervisor review of each draft.
Finding reliable case law and citing it correctly.	Used official sources and recognised reports and noted the full citation.
Maintaining consistent documentation.	Used daily log entries and reviewed feedback to improve documentation progressively.
Managing time between practice, documentation and report writing.	Divided work week by week and used review days for corrections.

e. Career Pathways

The knowledge gained supports further study and careers such as Compliance Executive or Officer, Legal Executive or Associate, Paralegal, Contract Manager, Corporate Law Associate, Company Secretary (CS) trainee, GST and Tax Executive, and HR Compliance Executive. Related higher-study options include LL.B., the Company Secretary course of ICSI, LL.M. and MBA in Legal or Corporate Governance. The growth of startups, MSMEs and digital filing systems increases the need for trained compliance professionals.

CONCLUSION

The internship in Legal & Corporate Compliance was a valuable learning experience that integrated academic knowledge with practical activity. The programme achieved its objectives through structured learning, guided practice, assignments, supervisor review and documentation.

The student gained a clear understanding of how company, tax and labour laws apply to a business - through the Companies Act and ROC filings, statutory registers, contract drafting, labour law, GST, legal research, policy documentation, the compliance calendar and legal notices - and acquired practical familiarity with forms, registers, drafts and process documentation. The experience has strengthened the student's employability and provides a foundation for further study and work in law, company secretarial work and compliance.

Reflection

Looking back, the most useful lesson of the internship was that compliance is mostly about dates, records and clear writing, and that checking the latest official source is a habit that cannot be skipped. Moving from concept to practice to documentation made abstract ideas concrete, and supervisor feedback showed where understanding was weak. The habit of recording each day's work also made it easier to see progress over the weeks.

Objectives and Achievement

Objective	How it was achieved
Understand legal and corporate compliance	Concept sessions, study of sources of law and glossary of terms
Learn company law, ROC and registers	Comparison chart of companies, ROC form table and register formats
Learn contracts and notices	Sample agreement, notice drafts and checklists with supervisor review
Understand labour law and GST	Labour Code summary, sample GST invoice and tax calculation
Learn research, policies and calendar	Research notes with citations, sample policy and compliance calendar in MS Excel
Develop professional discipline	Daily attendance, supervisor review and report writing

Future Scope

The knowledge gained can support further study of law, company secretaryship and corporate governance and careers in compliance, legal documentation, tax and HR compliance. With more businesses registering, filing online and facing new laws, trained professionals are increasingly needed.

Suggestions for Improvement of the Programme

1. Include live demonstrations of official portals in demo mode and visits to a Company Secretary or law office, with appropriate permissions.
2. Continue regular mentor feedback and progress reviews.
3. Provide more project-based activities such as preparing a complete compliance file for a dummy company.
4. Encourage students to maintain detailed daily documentation.
